ABSTRACT

The charge coupled device includes a clocked barrier pixel architecture that has a two phase gate structure that substantially reduces clock-induced dark current.